

Do you ever wish that faxing could be as simple and integrated as email?

- Easy to use; just like email
- Enables quicker responses
- Cost and time saving
- Copies of incoming and outgoing faxes stored on your system

IN DETAIL ●●●

Adding network fax capabilities to your system make's faxing as simple as email. With our Network Fax Solution, incoming faxes can appear on paper exactly as a normal fax but in addition each one is electronically delivered to your inbox. The file is then stored permanently on computer as part of a complete file of all received faxes. Once your fax has arrived you can simply edit it on the computer and re-fax it or even email it.

Sending faxes is easier too. If what you wish to send is computer generated you simply type your message or select the computer document you wish to fax, choose your recipient and press send; just as you do with email. Your fax will then print from your recipients fax machine just as it would if you used a normal fax machine. You will also be told if your fax has been delivered successfully and your outgoing faxes can be stored permanently within Outlook. If you still have hard copy faxes to send, scan the document and send the file via the Network Fax. Once you have it on PC it's always available for future use!

Combined with other facilities on your existing IT system, network faxing can help you work smarter. For example, incoming faxes are available 24 hours a day; they can be viewed as soon as they come in (through remote connections like Outlook web access) or over your existing VPN connection on your laptop.

The Conquest Wildman Network Fax solution enables you to respond more quickly and professionally; if someone sends you a fax you can reply by email or by fax within minutes without leaving your desk. There are cost saving benefits too; many application forms that you receive by fax can actually be emailed back more quickly and at less cost than writing on them and faxing them back. You will not only save print costs for your fax machine but also in phone charges and time. With a Network Fax Solution you can also store all your contact details in one place on your system. When this information is updated everyone in your company is kept up to date.

Network faxing is just another way Conquest Wildman can make your current IT system work more efficiently for you. Find out more by visiting www.conquestwildman.co.uk or calling us on the number below.