

The Conquest Wildman IT Healthcheck Service is a system review designed to protect your IT investment.

Why do we need an IT System Review?

With lots going on in a busy company, important IT routines can often get overlooked with disastrous consequences. The Conquest Wildman IT Healthcheck Service, either on an annual or bi-annual basis, is a way in which we can highlight any potential problems on your IT system before anything can go seriously wrong with it.

During the service we look at and discuss your system capacity with you, and help you forward plan the growth of your computer system, by looking at areas such as limited storage capacity, security risks or ailing equipment. This can take the unexpected sting out of discovering that your IT system is overloaded and can no longer cope with the demands of your business.

We check your backup logs and antivirus definition dates, and make sure that your staff have been regularly checking and updating these for you. We also advise on new technologies that could improve your current IT system, and help you to ensure you stay up to date with current software developments.

As part of the service, we will contact you at preset intervals of either 6 or 12 months, to tell you when your next IT system review is due, leaving you free to run your business.
